Welcome

Greetings and Welcome to the latest edition of Insight.

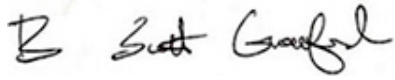

Since our last update, we are delighted to have welcomed 23 new customers on board and we released our revolutionary new Scheduling Module which is already helping our customers to improve task management.

It has been valuable as always to meet with so many of you at Forums we have hosted across North America, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand. Your ideas really do help to shape the future of collectionHQ. We have many more events like this coming up which are listed here.

In other news, we are delighted to have launched a new collectionHQ Blog. A special "thank you" to our guest bloggers at the Brazoria County Library System - you can read more about their blog in Product News.

And so, without further ado, I hope you enjoy reading the latest news from collectionHQ.

B. Scott Crawford, Vice President General Manager, collectionHQ.

Product News

Last month we were delighted to announce the release of collectionHQ v4.1 which included the revolutionary Scheduling module. Our latest blog post from Tom West and Sara K. Joiner at the Brazoria County Library System, TX, discusses their thoughts on the new scheduling module - including some photographs you may well relate to!

In other news, we are looking forward to offering our Evidence-based Selection Planning - ESP service in the coming months to more libraries across the U.S.A. following the success of our pilot program. To find out more about ESP, click here.

Customer Success Story

Barbara Roark, Assistant Director at the Hancock County Public Library, IN, recently shared with us her collectionHQ Success Story.

Prior to using collectionHQ, Barbara and the team faced the challenge of implementing a streamlined collection management process and developing a patron driven collection.

To find out how they are overcoming these challenges, request a copy of the case study at more.info@collectionhq.com. To view all case studies, visit www.collectionhq.com/case-studies/.
